Paulina Lakra with the Children

HOPE worldwide is running a non-formal school for drop-outs and for children who have never been to any school. They are children of parents who came into the city in search of better job opportunities. Since the inception of HOPE worldwide school many children have been benefitted. Around 25 underprivileged boys and girls regularly attend the classes. Paulina Lakra is the proud teacher who is instructing them.

Stories from HOPE worldwide Ranchi

Sabita is 7 years old and her sister Nitu is 5 years old. Their father, who used to run a roadside kiosk, closed it as it was incurring losses and since then has been unemployed. Their mother earns a meager INR 600 (8 GBP) every month. Living in abject poverty, the sisters wouldn't have dreamt of ever being inside a school. When our volunteers arrived in their area they encouraged the children to come to the tuition centre. They were like sponge, soaking everything they were taught in the school. When the time came for them to get admission in a formal school they passed the tests and thus secured their seat. Their happy faces shows their gratitude to the teacher and to you, the donors.

ROHAN DOES WELL

Rohan Kachap is 7 years old. His father, who was a habitual drunkard became sick with Tuberculosis (TB) and died. After his dad's passing away, his mother took upon herself to provide for the family. She started to work for a meager salary of INR 1200 (15 GBP). Rohan joined the HOPE worldwide centre to receive education. He excelled in his studies and his excellent grades helped him get into one of the most prestigious schools of Ranchi. However, he has not forgotten his friends in our centre. He often visits his former fellow students and teacher. He is very grateful to you for helping him reach his goal which according to him is "good education".
