Something for the future

Priya's dad worked his whole life as a government employee. He provided for his family's basic needs but there were times when some impending contingency required extra money. Priya desired for a career that would not only be enough to meet daily needs but some could be saved for the rainy days. So after her graduation she searched for an institute that would help her fulfill her dreams. She approached HOPE worldwide and is grateful that she is getting the best education with almost no expense.

Suma grew up wanting to do achieve more with her life. Her father worked hard as a daily wagger on a construction site and provided well for Suma and her two sister's education. Both her sisters are now working in good jobs. Suma, too, searched for a job after the completion of her Diploma in Electronics, but she failed to get one as she was not computer literate. She approached many computer institutes but their fees were very high. When she came to know of our centre, she was pleasantly surprised to find a place where good education was available at minimal expense. She is very grateful to HOPE worldwide for providing this opportunity.

Helping students from Government school to learn computers

In the month of May 2009, our computer center conducted short term computer course for the high school students from SMV Government School, Trivandrum. Almost 50 students attended the short term vacation class regularly. Certificates were issued on 14th September during the school assembly to all successful students. The school Principal and all the teachers were extremely happy that HOPE worldwide had chosen their school as 90 percent of their students belong to very poor background and would never have got educated in computers.

Our centre has also taken up the responsibility to conduct regular evening batch computer classes for the school students. The registration has started and the classes will be commencing from October 1st, 2009 onwards.
